blocking out turning a blind eye shutting off not wanting to know wearing blinkers seeing what we want to see these are all expressions of denial alcoholics who refuse to recognize their condition people who brush aside suspicions of their partner's infidelity the wife who doesn't notice that her husband is abusing their daughter are supposedly in denial governments deny their responsibility for atrocities and plan them to achieve maximum deniability truth commissions try to overcome the suppression and denial of past horrors bystander nations deny their responsibility to intervene do these phenomena have anything in common when we deny are we aware of what we are doing or is this an unconscious defence mechanism to protect us from unwelcome truths can there be cultures of denial how do organizations like amnesty and oxfam try to overcome the public's apparent indifference to distant suffering and cruelty is denial always so bad or do we need positive illusions to retain our sanity states of denial is the first comprehensive study of both the personal and political ways in which uncomfortable realities are avoided and evaded it ranges from clinical studies of depression to media images of suffering to explanations of the passive bystander and compassion fatigue the book shows how organized atrocities the holocaust and other genocides torture and political massacres are denied by perpetrators and by bystanders those who stand by and do nothing

this book proposes a philosophy of care in a global age it discusses the distinguishing and opposing pathologies produced by globalization unlimited individualism or self obsession manifested as promethean omnipotence and narcissistic indifference and endogamous communitarianism or an us obsession that results in conflict and violence the polarization between a lack and an excess of pathos is reflected in the distorted forms taken on by fear the book advocates a metamorphosis of fear which may restore in the subject an awareness of vulnerability and become the precondition for moral action such awareness and the recognition of the condition of contamination caused by the other's unavoidable presence teach us to fear for rather than be afraid of fear for the world means care of the world and care understood as concern and solicitude is a new notion of responsibility in which the stress is shifted to a relational subject capable of responding to and taking care of the other from a global perspective the proposed vision of care also compels us to explore a new paradigm of justice at the heart of the field of genocide studies lies an active core of vigorous debate that has led to both heated disagreements and productive disputes this new volume in the genocide a critical bibliographic review series focuses on these as well as other significant issues chapters in this volume focus on a number of issues did peru's aché suffer genocide what was the role of media propaganda in the rwandan genocide and what more if anything could have been done about it have rwanda s post genocide gacaca courts successfully promoted reconciliation how has denial affected governmental recognition around the world of the armenian hellenic and assyrian genocides why have some left wing progressives engaged in denial of the rwandan genocide has anti genocide activism had a meaningful effect in prevention of or intervention against genocide in the pages of this book readers can explore the various debates that have defined the study of genocide and that are redefining it today this insightful and provocative volume will entice further discussion on the concept of genocide and will be a must read for the field of genocide studies social postmodernism and systematic theology can be considered the new pair in some of the most creative discussions on the future of theological method on a global scale both in the academy and in the public square as well as in the manifold local and pastoral moments of ministry and community social activism the social the postmodern and the theological intermingle in engaging and border crossing ways the community of the weak presents a new kind of jazzy fundamental theology with a postmodern touch using jazz as a metaphor writing ethnographically messy texts out of the personal windows of lived experiences combining fragments of autobiography with theological reconstruction a comparative perspective on north american and european developments in contemporary systematic theology serves as a hermeneutical horizon to juxtapose two continents in their very different contexts the author proposes a systematic and fundamental theology that is more jazzy global and narrative deeply embedded in pastoral ministry to tell its postmodern story how can we respond in the aftermath of wrongdoing how can social trust be restored in the wake of intense political conflict in this challenging work philosopher trudy govier explores central dilemmas of political reconciliation employing illustrative material from rwanda sierra leone south africa australia canada peru and elsewhere govier stresses that reconciliation is fundamentally about relationships whether through means of truth commissions apologies community processes or criminal trials the basic goal of reconciliation is improved social trust among alienated individuals and groups a major strength of govier s approach is her creative practical framework for reflection she explains that people should not to be identified with the roles they may have played and she points out that with reference to wrongs committed in political conflicts individuals often play several roles the perpetrators of some acts can be the victims of others the victims in some circumstances may become responsive interveners in others rare is the political conflict in which one group commits all wrongs govier argues that to build social trust and sustainable peace acknowledgment of past wrongs is crucial the need for mutuality in acknowledgment is an underappreciated aspect of the aftermath of conflicts she further examines the themes of responsibility individual collective and shared apology forgiveness reparations the rehabilitation of child soldiers the problems of monetary compensation and truth telling and truth commissions govier s lucid style and willingness to explore counterarguments make this a lively and thought provoking work
